

THE EFFECT OF THE IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS' REFUSAL TO BOARD THE KOMAGATA MARU, DISMAL FAILURE

MONTEAL GROUP HAS LOWER PLAN READY TO SUBMIT

Propose to Develop Forty Thousand Horse Power Up the Saskatchewan.

TO BUILD THREE DAMS NEAR ROCKY RAPIDS

Jackson and Company of Glasgow the Construction Engineers.

With a water power proposition which it is claimed will outlive the most attractive that has yet been submitted to the city, local representatives of Sir John Jackson and company, engineers, of Glasgow, will be before the council within the next two or three weeks to outline their proposal.

Not much information has yet been given out about the Jackson proposal, but it is known that it is a Saskatchewan river scheme and that it calls for the construction of at least three dams on the river about 40 miles above the city and in the general neighborhood of the Rocky rapids. It is being claimed for the scheme that a total capacity of 40,000 horse power can be developed with the three dams, and it is stated by the local representative that soundings have been made and plans actually completed of the entire plant, arrangements made with the Dominion government for the flooding of the low lands, and careful and complete arrangements taken of the river during a period of more than two years to prove that between two and three hundred million feet of water can be stored even in the lowest periods of winter flow.

Jackson and company of Glasgow are engineers of almost world-wide reputation, whose business is the construction of large public works. Recently they have built docks at Vancouver and Victoria, have undertaken large works in Mexico, have built railways and irrigation works in India and among other things have taken large contracts from the Russian government for railway construction in Siberia. In the proposal which is to be submitted to the city they are acting as construction engineers for a Montreal group of capitalists whom it is reported, have had their eye upon Edmonton as a possible power market some time. D. W. Farrell, of the Montreal financial firm of Farrell and company, is the manager of the syndicate and has the names of Ross, Beaudry, Latre, Molson and several others prominent among Montreal's heavyweights. Financial men are mentioned as among the syndicate.

E. W. Bonness, cost engineer of the city last year, is local representative of Farrell & Co.

The form in which the proposal will come before the city council is not yet known, but it is being claimed that the carrying out of the scheme will call for the outlay of five million dollars, and that the rate which will be offered will be as low as any that has yet been submitted to the city.

INSECT PESTS CAUSE VERY HEAVY DAMAGE TO CANADIAN CROPS

Ottawa, July 15.—Canada loses at least fifty million dollars a year through damage to crops done from insect pests, according to a statement in the agricultural gazette, published by the department of agriculture. The gazette states that insects have done more damage to crops in Canada than in any other country. It is therefore strongly urged. Investigation has shown that insects form 65 per cent of the total yearly loss of crops. Insects have been found in a single bush of 500,000 per cent of the yearly food of 95 per cent of the birds of the country. Another reason given for protecting the birds is the fact that many of them consume the seeds of weeds.

MANITOBA MINISTER PUBLIC WORKS GETS ONLY ONE MAJORITY

Winnipeg, July 15.—There was a report before Judge Myers yesterday of the votes polled at the election in the constituency of Kildonan and St. Andrew's and it resulted in a majority of one for Hon. Dr. Montague, the conservative candidate. The official declaration of the poll gave Dr. Montague a majority of three, but at the recount it was discovered that a mistake had been made.

HUSBAND DRIVEN FROM HOME; WIFE SELLS PROPERTY

Supreme Court Judgment Restores to the Man Lands Sold by His Spouse.

HAVING GOT $2,000 SHE LEFT COUNTRY

Transfer Was Made in Order to Avoid Seizure by Creditors, Case Company.

Although the lands had been transferred to the wife in order to avoid seizure for debt, the wife had no right to sell the lands and should have held them in trust for her husband, according to a judgment handed down from the supreme court bench today in the case of John Scheureman vs. Anna Scheureman. The husband was suing for property, which the wife had sold in the absence of the husband for the sum of $2,500, and had received $2,000, the balance being still unpaid. It appears that the Scheuremans homesteaded near Bruderheim in 1906, and in 1908 came to live in Edmonton. At that time plaintiff bought a lot for fire and built a house worth $600 on it. It was alleged that sometime ago the wife drove her husband out of the house and Scheureman went to visit his relatives in the State of Washington. When he came back he found that his wife had gone and had sold the property. The husband traced her to Portland, Oregon, and demanded a transfer of the property, which she refused. Plaintiff's trouble arose over a partnership in a threshing outfit, on which they failed to make their payments and the case company sold Scheureman's homestead, under a mortgage which they held. Plaintiff, thinking that the company might not be satisfied with the homestead, transferred some "C.P.R. land and also his Edmonton property to the wife.

The judgment states that the transfer was made with the object of defeating the plaintiff's creditors, and that the case company sold Scheureman's homestead, under a mortgage which they held. Plaintiff, thinking that the company might not be satisfied with the homestead, transferred some "C.P.R. land and also his Edmonton property to the wife.

C.P.R. FILES STATEMENT OF CLAIM FOR DAMAGES AGAINST THE STORSTAD

Montreal, July 15.—In the two million dollar suit by the C.P.R. against the Storstad for damages for the sinking of the Empress of Ireland, the statement of claim filed yesterday with the admiralty court at Montreal, the following allegations have been made. That a lookout was kept on the Storstad; That the helm of the Storstad was improperly ported; That the Storstad improperly failed to keep her course and passed the Empress of Ireland starboard to starboard; That the Storstad was navigated at improper and immoderate rate of speed.

That those in charge of the Storstad failed to reduce speed and sound the whistle before the vessel ran into the fog. That the engines were not slowed or reversed in time; That no competent officers were in charge of the vessel, those in charge of which neglected to comply with the articles of the rule of the road in force in Canadian waters.

FAMOUS LAKEVIEW GUSHER NOT EASY MONEY FROM FIRST

Julius Fried, California Oil Wizard, Tells of Trials and Tribulations—Guarded Property With Guns—Countless Hardships in Drilling But Success Undreamed of Finally Comes—No. 2 Once Given Up, Now Big Producer—May "Put One Over" Other Operators Again as in Past.

Six years ago three men walked through a field in Kern county, California, looking for a good place to sink a well for oil. One of these men was Julius Fried, whose name has since become one to conjure with in the oil world, and who is now at the King Edward hotel, Edmonton, having with two or three associates, located some holdings which were examined by his geologist, F. G. Thraher, west of the Nakamun field. They are organizing a company to be known as the California-Lakeview, which Mr. Fried, Mr. Thraher and others associated with its development expect will make this district famous as an oil producer. "If oil is not encountered in that field it will be the first Mr. Fried has ever identified himself with which did not become a producer, although he has never depended on others to locate his holdings, but picked them himself. Greatest Well in History. His most wonderful success, if, indeed, it was not the most wonderful well in the history of oil drilling, was the Lakeview, the gusher encountered two years later on the property over which he and the two other men walked in 1908. "Tom O'Donnell and S. C. Graham," said Mr. Fried at the King Edward this morning, "I believe know more about oil lands than any two other men in California. Both of them looked over the land where the Lakeview is located and both passed it up, and yet I would rather take their advice even now than that of probably any others."

After deciding on the spot, Mr. Fried

Another Edmonton company is about to drill—the Blindman Valley Oil company, limited. An outfit has been purchased from Mackenzie and Mann and was shipped from the south side last evening to Wetaskiwin, west of which the company has large holdings. J. O. ## NO STEAM LET BE MADE; AND SHIP IS HELD Captain Yamamoto Confesses His Inability to Move the Vessel.

HE AND PURSER ARE PRISONERS IN HOLD

Natives Throng the Engine Room, and Power Cannot Be Got Up.

Vancouver B. C., July 15.—An attempt last night of the immigration officials to force the departure of the Hindus aboard the Komagata Maru failed dismally.

At 8 o'clock this morning the situation on board the vessel is that the Hindus are so absolutely in possession that they refuse to allow any officials to come near the ship, and have Capt. Yamamoto and the purser held prisoners in the hold.

Early last evening Capt. Johnston, agent for the ship, and the immigration authorities notified the Japanese captain to get up steam and leave.

A tug with provisions aboard would accompany the ship to outside waters. Later Captain Yamamoto confessed his inability to move. He said the Hindus had thronged the engine room and would not allow steam to be made.

SECRETARY DECLARES DID NOT ENDORSE ANY PARTICULAR SCHEME

R. S. McKenzie, secretary of the Edmonton Property Owners' association, stated this morning that a report which appeared in a local afternoon paper about the power scheme brought before the city council by a firm of New York and San Francisco engineers, was misleading, as it conveyed the impression that the association was in favor of the council's accepting it. As a matter of fact, stated Mr. McKenzie, the association simply asks that the city investigate any and all power propositions, so that cheap power can be obtained for the city. The Edmonton Property Owners' association is not in favor of any scheme that is not better than another.

SUIT IS STARTED COMPEL DIRECTORS TO ANSWER CHARGES

New York, July 15.—Suit in equity was instituted here today in behalf of certain minority stockholders of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad against directors of the road and the corporation, to compel them to answer charges of maladministration and mis-use of funds.

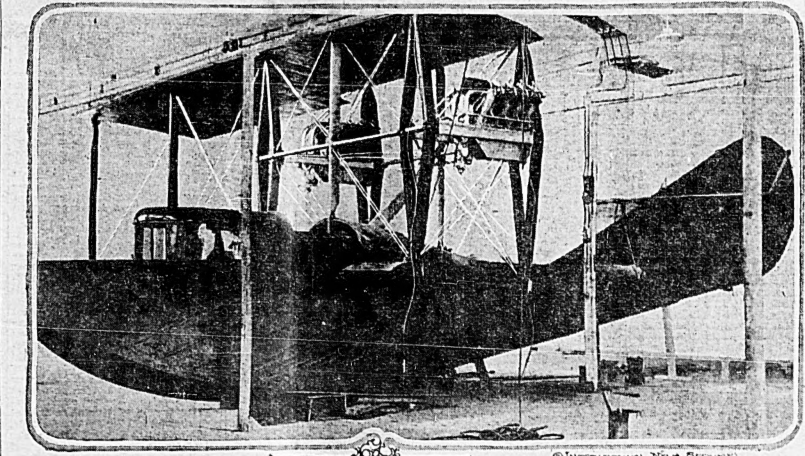

Washington, July 15.—Final efforts to bring about a dissolution of the New Haven railroad system, without suit in court, will be made at a conference at the department of justice Monday between a committee of New Haven directors, Attorney-General McInnis and P. W. Gregory, special assistant in charge of the case.

Justice Scott's Report on Police Probe Issued Today

Justice Scott today issued his report on his findings at the police investigation. The contents of the report will not be made public before Monday.

The report was sent in a sealed envelope, in charge of a court official, over to the city hall. Justice Scott declined to allow copies of the report to go to the press, before sanctioned by the mayor or city council. His lordship takes the view that he was requested by the city council to hold the investigation and the report is the property of the city council, to deal with as they wish.

The report, it is understood, comprises twenty-five to thirty pages of typewritten matter.

First photograph of the America, showing her two separate and independent 100-horsepower engines, the first set of the kind ever built. If one engine fails in the flight across the ocean, the other becomes immediately available, and can drive the aircraft 70 miles an hour in favorable weather.

SOUTH SIDE WILL HAVE FULL REPRESENTATION DECLARES MR. EAST

"The statement that there is no provision in the new city charter for representation by residents who live on the river is entirely erroneous and misleading," declared Alderman James East, chairman of the elective commission, after a meeting of the committee, which was held last night. "People living south of the river are given identically the same voice in municipal affairs as those living in the 'west end' or any other section of the city. If there is any good citizen who desires more for the residents of his section than those of some other locality, his wish will not be gratified."

REPORTS REQUESTED FROM HEADS OF ALL CITY DEPARTMENTS

A circular letter has been issued from the office of the commissioner of finance requesting all department heads to submit revised estimates for the year in regard to current revenue and expenditures, such estimates to be presented not later than July 21. These estimates are to be used in making up a supplementary estimate to be submitted to the city council for consideration and action prior to striking the tax rate.

COLD WATERS OF GULF CLAIM TWO DARING GERMAN IMMIGRANTS

Montreal, July 15.—Three Germans stowed themselves away on board the C. P. R. liner Mount Temple when that steamer was cleared from Antwerp. Only one was handed over to the immigration authorities at Quebec. Somewhere in the gulf the bodies of the other two men are floating today. On Monday night the ship was slipping along through the darkness off Cape Chatte, the two men, plucked overboard into the river. The shore was five miles away and the current was strong. Their fate is unknown, but on board the steamer everyone is positive that the cold river soon claimed the two adventurers.

POSTMASTER DROWNED WHILE ANOTHER MAN SHOT THROUGH HEART

Medicine Hat, July 15.—Two fatal accidents were reported in the surrounding district yesterday. M. S. Schroder, postmaster at Walsby, was drowned in a boat on Skene lake, near Walsby, and a man named Hausman, living 15 miles from Walsby, was shot through the heart by the falling discharge of a rifle while coyote hunting.

LITTLE GIRL CRUSHED BENEATH WHEELS OF MOVING LOCOMOTIVE

While being lifted to the cab of a construction train locomotive, a few days ago, while the engine was in motion, Lillie Gentry, daughter of an hotel proprietor at Telford, fell beneath the engine and both of her legs were severed. It appears that the child was known to Engineer Patrick, and the latter, knowing that she desired to reach a point a short distance down the track, kindly offered to take her aboard. A moment after she left the ground Patrick lost his hold of her and she fell beneath the revolving wheels. The child was brought to Edmonton.

BIG DAMAGE TO CROPS AND RAILWAY ROADBED AT CANNON BALL, N.D.

Mandan, N. D., July 15.—Crop damage estimated at between 20 and 60 per cent, was done in the district near Cannon Ball, in this county, by a hail storm, according to advices received here yesterday. Telephone communication has been disrupted, and the Northern Pacific roadbed has been further undermined by the rain falling with hail. There was a washout near Gwyther during the night.

FIVE YEAR OLD CHILD VICTIM IN BURNING OF SASKATOON RESIDENCE

Saskatoon, July 15.—Mildred, aged five years, daughter of Dr. Donnelly of Saskatoon, was burned to death this morning when fire consumed the family residence. Mrs. Donnelly, her mother, and three other children escaped. The fire started through the overturning of a lamp.

NOT HAPPY DAYS FOR THE RAILWAY MANAGERS.

High finance, as applied to railroading, has fallen upon evil days in United States and the outlook is far from bright for the financiers.

United States railways, valued at approximately nine billion dollars, have been capitalized at nineteen billions of dollars, and up to the present time have been struggling along under this load, paying interest upon more than two dollars for every one invested, to say nothing of the capitalization of constantly accumulating increments.

But recently public opinion in United States has awakened to the fact that over-capitalization is a species of piracy, the cost of which must be paid either in a ruined transportation system, lower wages or a high freight rate, or all of these. As a consequence of the development of this frame of the public mind the integrity and goodness of purpose of the captains of industry is not so unquestioningly accepted as it once was, and investigations into the systems of predatory finance are becoming much more searching than was the fashion a decade or so ago. In the explosion which followed the looting of the Frisco there was grave danger at one period that a number of very prominent railway magnates might finally land in jail, and in the New Haven disclosures even the great name which had been built up for Morgan came down with a terrible clatter, exposing a record of brigandage such as the public had not even suspected heretofore.

To make matters more unfortunate still for the railway financiers, they were just at this time before the inter-state commerce commission with a demand that they be permitted to raise their freight rates five per cent. all around, the presumption being that this raise added to present rates would produce a revenue sufficient to meet the charges piled up in the boom years by overcapitalization. This request, however, the commerce commission looks upon very coldly and the newspapers are telling the magnates to squeeze a little of the water out of their capital.

And just at this juncture, when the magnates are driven almost to distraction trying to meet the charges and at the same time keep the railway from going absolutely to pieces through depreciation, there comes a demand from fifty-five thousand engineers and firemen for a raise of wages on ninety-eight western railways which, so the actuaries of the systems estimate, will entail additional burdens of $33,000,000 a year, an amount sufficient, the managers willingly complain, to wreck every railway in the group.

The lot of the railway manager just at this present time is surely not one long dream of peace and plenty. One railway manager, and he among the biggest of them, Ripley of the Santa Fe, has declared that government ownership is coming so rapidly that the world will be amazed at the suddenness of the change. Most likely he is right. Certainly the railways cannot continue to play the present game.

PEACE BY THE CONSENT OF THE PEOPLE GOVERNED.

The flight of Huerta and the accession of Carranza as provisional president of Mexico justifies to a very large extent the policy adopted by President Wilson and maintained tenaciously in spite of the scoffing of the republican and Hearst newspapers in United States and many of the European newspapers and public men who claimed some knowledge of the science, or whatever it may be called, of diplomacy.

Mexico was in the position of being in the hands of a dictator who, according to civilized morals, had no vestige of right, legal or otherwise, to the position. He was president by assassination, instead of by election. With Huerta in that position there was no chance of peace. United States had no desire to conquer Mexico. But interference would have had the effect of solidifying Mexicans against United States and of giving interference the interpretation of a war of conquest. United States would have been compelled to take Mexico, whether or no. This was what Hearst, the Waters-Pierce Oil company, and many others who had secured concessions in Mexico wanted. But Wilson was in no wise interested in making their claims good by taking the country. He simply cleared the field and left the Mexicans to work out their own salvation. The result has been the triumph of the constitutionalists, led by Carranza and Villa, both of whom have promised to establish constitutional government.

Mexico may not arrive at a sylvan peace all at once. But Wilson has made the arrangements by which peace is at least possible, and by the consent of the people governed at that.

A WIDE DIFFERENCE IN THE POINT OF VIEW.

That there is a very wide difference in the viewpoint upon the question of prize fighting on the two sides of the Atlantic is very clearly exemplified by the descriptions of the crowds which attend the big events in England.

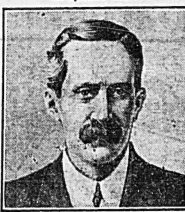

In Western Canada, and especially in Alberta, where one would expect physical combat to be looked upon with a good deal of toleration, the laws against the prize ring are so severe as to place the sport in the taboo list. In this province prize fighting is dead.

But in London when Carpenter and "Gunboat" Smith, neither of them English, come together, there are included in the thirteen-hundred fight fans who assemble, such aristocrats as Lord Lansdale, Lord Curzon, Lord Caledon, the Earl of Carnarvon, Lord Vivian, the Earl of Denbigh, Viscount Fielding, Lord Fabre, the Earl of Louth, Lord Dalmeny, Lord Litchfield, and many others whose names have become sufficiently celebrated that they have been borrowed to give place names to much of Western Canada's geography. The news stories of the event tell of five hundred women in attendance, and it is even hinted that a member of the royal family was present in person.

Quite clearly the English do not harbor the fear which appears to be common to Canadians that the morals of their country will be wrecked by watching a couple of well-trained men settle the question of their physical superiority by the primordial arbitrament.

WHOLE FAMILY USES THEM

"Fruit-a-lives" Keeps Young And Old In Splendid Health

J. W. HAMMOND, Esq.

SCOTLAND, Ont., Aug. 25th, 1913. "Fruit-a-lives" are the only pills manufactured, to my way of thinking. They work completely, no gripping whatever, and are a plenty for any ordinary person at a dose. My wife was married to Constipation. Wetted everything on the calendar without satisfaction, and spent large sums of money until we happened on "Fruit-a-lives". I cannot say too much in their favor.

We have used them in the family for about two years and we would not use anything else as long as we can get "Fruit-a-lives".

Their action is mild, and no distress at all. I have recommended them to many other people, and our whole family uses them.

J. W. HAMMOND.

Those who have been cured by "Fruit-a-lives" are proud and happy to tell a sick or ailing friend about these wonderful tablets made from fruit juices. See a box, 6 for $2.00, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

EXHIBITION NOW RIDES ON CREST VICTORY'S WAVE

Whole City Seems to Have Fair Feeling Tingling Through Its Blood.

MANUFACTURERS WANT MORE SPACE ALREADY

Chorus of Hammers to Hurry Forward New Live Stock Buildings.

Exhibition grounds are on the street, and exhibition enthusiasm is in the air.

Hammer and saw are busy on the exhibition grounds these days, the carpenters having become imbued with the enthusiasm that exists in all quarters of the exhibition arrangements. The new cattle and sheep barns are being hurried forward as though every hammer knew of the letters pouring in the exhibition office some with entries, others announcing entries to come. Individual animals and animals by the carload are coming to the fair, every one of them satisfied they will win the prize. Of course, accommodation must be provided for all; hence the hammer chorus on the exhibition grounds.

Every inch of space in the manufacturers' building and in the Machinery hall has been reserved. Had those buildings double their present capacity there would be no vacant spaces left for many applications have necessarily been refused.

Manufacturers have come to recognize the Edmonton exhibition as a valuable advertising medium, and will vie with each other in making their exhibits attractive.

From coast to coast requests for prize lists and information have practically swamped the office, and local would-be exhibitors have not been behind. Telephone and elevator knock no rest these days.

The range of the prize list is wide, and there are few households that have no exhibits in some line of work or product, that could not be brought forward to help make the exhibition the biggest in the west. Farm, ranch, garden and dairy, all will contribute their best.

The Alberta dragoons are preparing to show Edmonton their splendid horsemanship with the musical ride which they will present every afternoon and evening. Men and horses are training daily, and their efforts will not be unappreciated. No one can say Edmonton is lacking in pride in her own.

Edmonton exhibition is everybody's exhibition so far as the people of this city are concerned. The spirit of faith in her own which has kept the exhibition going through good times and ill for 25 years, is the spirit which will see it through to the end. Everybody feels that he has had a share in the success of the exhibition, and with such a backing, the midsummer fair can never fail. Edmonton exhibition is everybody's exhibition.

The Adventures of Kathlyn

By Harold MacGrath.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.

Kathlyn Hare, believing her father, Col. Hare, in peril, has summoned her friends to her home in California to go to him in Alaska. Unhappily, she has misinterpreted the colonel, named by the late king as his heir, because he is the American man who insists on his royal rights. Upon her arrival in Alaska, Kathlyn is informed by Unhappily that her father is dead and that she is the queen. An elaborate funeral is arranged, the central figure of which is Kathlyn, protesting and grief-stricken. When the crown is placed upon her head Unhappily announces that she is to be married to him forthwith. Her refusal infuriates him, but as Kathlyn's beauty and spirit have made a strong appeal to the people he refuses to do so. Kathlyn, however, a priest announces that no woman may rule unless she is married. Kathlyn, therefore, is not content with the laws of the state she will be given seven days to decide.

When Kathlyn returns, at the expiration of the week of grace, her refusal to marry Unhappily is pronounced. She is then the supreme tribunal that she is to undergo the ordeal with wild beasts. If she survives she is to be permitted to rule with-out hindrance.

Through the pluck and resourcefulness of John Bruce, an American and fellow fugitive, the boat which brought Kathlyn to Alaska, and who has come to her assistance, she escapes unharmed from the two ordeals. With Bruce she flees from Alaska. The elephant which carried her becomes frightened and runs away, separating her from Bruce and the rest of the party.

After a ride filled with peril she takes refuge in a ruined temple. The holy men and villagers, who are to be in an ancient priestess risen from the tomb, allow her to remain in the temple, and she is placed in a cage. But Kathlyn's heart is also the heart of a lion, and she finds a refuge in it with the savage beast in pursuit. She escapes and finds a refuge in the jungle, only to fall into the hands of a band of Alaskan Indians. She is sold to Unhappily, the public man, who is a cruel and unscrupulous man. He is a wild and unscrupulous man, who is a cruel and unscrupulous man. He is a wild and unscrupulous man, who is a cruel and unscrupulous man.

Bruce and his friends effect the release of Kathlyn and the colonel. Unhappily attempts to prevent this, but is unsuccessful, and the fugitives are given shelter in the palace of John Bruce. The colonel is placed in the palace, and Kathlyn is placed in the palace. The colonel is placed in the palace, and Kathlyn is placed in the palace.

Supplied with weapons and servants by that hospitable prince, the party endeavours to reach the coast, but are overpowered by a band of Alaskan Indians. The colonel is placed in the palace, and Kathlyn is placed in the palace. The colonel is placed in the palace, and Kathlyn is placed in the palace.

Unhappily, finding the party unable to reach the coast, and the colonel's refusal to surrender, he orders the party to be killed. The party is killed, and the colonel is placed in the palace. The party is killed, and the colonel is placed in the palace.

When the support town, from which they intended to sail for home, is reached, the colonel receives by cable the news that Kathlyn is still alive. He is surprised and happy, and he orders the party to be killed. The party is killed, and the colonel is placed in the palace.

She became (as we saw) She heard the slip-slip of sandals in the corridor, a key turn in the lock. The door opened, and in the dim light she saw Unhappily.

He stood by the door silently contemplating her. "What a certain danger holds!" still added through the current of his thoughts. Money, money! He needed it. It was the only barrier between him and the end, which at last he began to see. Money, money and money! He needed it. It was the only barrier between him and the end, which at last he began to see.

Winnie did not stir. The aspect of the man fascinated her as the nearness of a cobra would have done. Vipers not only crawled in this terrible land; they walked. One stung with fangs and the other with words.

"She is dead, and tomorrow your father dies."

The dishevelled appearance of the man did not in her eyes confirm this. Indeed, the longer she gazed at him the more strongly convinced she became that he was lying. But wisely she maintained her silence.

"Dead," he repeated. "Within a week you shall be my wife. You know. They have told you. I want money, and by all the gods of Hind, yours shall be the day for me. If it were the only one week after I shall give you means of leaving Alaska. Will you marry me?"

"Yes." The word slipped over Winnie's lips faintly. She recalled Alhambra's advice; to humor the man, to give him time, but she knew that if he touched her she must scream.

"Keep that word. Your father and sister are fools."

Winnie trembled. They were alive, Kit and her father; this man had lied. Alhambra! He had not lied. He had no other word. They were alive, and more than that, they were free.

"I will keep my word when the time comes," she replied clearly.

"They are calling me Durga Ram the Mad. Heave, then, for madmen do mad things."

The door opened and shut behind him, and she heard the key turn and the outside bell click into its socket.

They were alive and free, her loved ones! She knelt upon the cushions, her eyes uplifted.

Alone, with the torch shaking in his hand, Unhappily went down into the prison, to the row of dungeons. In the door of one was a sliding panel. He pulled this back and peered within.

Something lay huddled in the corner. He drew the panel back into its place, and a gift of his former master, standing just outside the royal confines. Once there, he had slaves anoint his bruised back and shoulders with unguents, ordered his pig, drank it, and lay down to sleep.

On the morrow he was somewhat daunted upon meeting Ramahab in the corridor leading to the throne room, where Winnie and the council were gathered. He started to summon the guards, but the imperative face of his enemy and the menacing hand stayed the "villain."

"You are a brave man, Ramahab, to enter the lion's den in this fashion. You shall never leave here alive."

"Yes, Durga Ram, I shall depart as I came, a free man."

"You talk like that to me?" furiously. "Even so. Shall I trust you to my enemy and declare that I know what a certain dungeon holds?"

"Unhappily's fury was kindled, and sweat poured from his palms."

"Toot."

"I know, a truce! The people are muttering and murmuring against me because they are foolish; so attend your special Juggernaut. Bear

Justice Simmons Scores Mother for Lack of Duty in Leaving Daughter

Instead of a jail sentence A. Hunting will receive a wife if he can show means to support himself and a helpmeet.

This was Mr. Justice Simmons' way of disposing of a case which he caused the police authorities in the north a good deal of worry. Hunting ran away with a girl named Mildred Shaw and was charged before Mr. Justice Simmons with abduction.

The pair were chased by mounted police for several weeks and when the two officers making the chase did not return for so long it was thought that they had not with them and a relief party was organized. Just before the relief party set out the two officers returned with their quarry.

Justice Simmons, in summing up the evidence, scored Mrs. Shaw, the girl's mother, saying that she had failed sadly and absolutely in her duties as a mother, in going away and leaving her young daughter alone with a man. This had happened on two occasions—once in the case of Hunting, and another time when another man was left alone with her.

At the same court two half-breeds were sentenced to six months each for horse-stealing while Mr. Johnston was given a year for cattle stealing. The Hogue liquor appeal was allowed.

NEW OIL SYNDICATE TO BE LAUNCHED ON JULY 27TH

The oil syndicate being formed by J. H. Crookwell is now only a question of a few days. Some of Edmonton's best men are responding liberally to his common sense plan of considering the man who buys stock on the open market and pays for it, and he feels assured that with seven chances to win the poor man will never lose a dollar. Final steps will be taken the date the Hon. Duke of Connaught visits Edmonton.

By wire today one unit was ordered from Fort McKay and another from Montrose.

Calgary and Wetaskinaw are acting promptly in subscribing for units.

In consequence of the field they will cover, it does look as though Mr. Crookwell has struck the key note in his logical plan of harmonizing the five companies, assuring every investor a splendid opportunity of realizing and not losing. Mr. Crookwell and Mr. James Bradley are paying a visit to the Wetaskinaw field today.

Philadelphia will put a glass case around the Grant cabin in Almonte park.

Wealth of France is estimated at $50,000,000,000.
